

A black and white photograph of a river scene. On the left bank, a town is built on a hillside. A bridge with multiple arches spans the river. A large, dark, irregularly shaped island or peninsula is in the foreground. The background shows distant hills.